

Information regarding the Journeyman Leadership program

Please note you will not receive a physical airplane ticket. As long as you have your airport, airline and flight information, you can go to the ticket counter at the airport and give them your name, I.D. and destination, and they will print you out a boarding pass. If you do not have this information, call Laura Schemenauer as soon as possible at 651-646-7337.

If you check baggage, you will receive a reimbursement form once you are at the International Training Center (ITC). You will not be reimbursed for parking at the airport.

Once your flight lands, you will want to go to the baggage claim area, whether or not you checked baggage. If you land in terminal 1, you will go out door #9 and look for the Bel Trans counter. If you are at terminal 3, you will go out door #52 and look for the Bel Trans counter. Tell the ticket agent you are going to the Carpenters Training Center. They will give you a voucher and direct you to your shuttle. The ITC is just a short drive from the airport.

If you are driving, there is on-street parking around the building. The address for the ITC is 6801 Placid Street, Las Vegas, NV 89119.

Your lodgings are a combination of small dorm room/hotel. You get your own room, there is maid service each day and toiletries are provided. Your rooms have TVs but no refrigerators. There is free WiFi available; just ask at the front desk when you check in for the password. The front desk is available to answer a variety of questions for you, and can also call you a cab or help you figure out the bus schedule.

You are expected to stay at the ITC during your program. Family or friends may not attend the program with you and may not stay at the ITC.

The ITC does feature billiards tables, horseshoe pits, basketball courts, a small outdoor swimming pool and an exercise room that is open 34/7.

The ITC is a cashless environment, but you may want to bring money to tip your shuttle drivers, for off-campus adventures or for the UBC gift shop.

Casual dress is fine – jeans, tennis shoes and a clean shirt are appropriate.

The cafeteria on campus has extended hours for breakfast, lunch and dinner. However, even if it is not meal time you can always get snacks – usually there is bread and sandwich meat, fruit and cookies, chips and ice cream. You will not go hungry! There is also coffee, pop and other beverages available 24/7.

There are coolers with water bottles all over campus. Consider grabbing a bottle of water every time you walk by a cooler. It is easy to get dehydrated there, so drink lots of water!

The event starts at 2 p.m. Thursday but you should be on campus by noon. There is a reception that evening. Events Friday-Sunday start at 7:30 a.m. You will be done no later than noon Sunday.

On Thursday you will have the opportunity to hear General President Doug McCarron and ask him questions. On Friday you will hear from District Vice President Dave Tharp, Council EST John Raines, and other leadership staff, as well as have an opportunity to ask them questions.

Your Journeyman Leadership training will show up on your training card from the UBC, along with all of your other training, as "Journeyman Leadership".

In the evenings if you want to head down to the Strip or Fremont Street, you can take either a bus or a cab. A bus is cheaper but takes much longer. A cab can be anywhere from $20-$40 and higher, depending what part of the Strip you are being taken to. Consider grabbing a couple of friends and splitting the cab fare. Uber is available in Las Vegas, but please note they do surge pricing so a cab may be the better option.

If a person does not show up for training, is late to class or unfit to participate, they will be sent home. If you are sent home, you will be billed for your airfare, room and board. Be on time and ready for class each day.

If interested, there is a list of nearby church services available at the front desk at the ITC. Please note you will need to take a cab as none are in walking distance.
